

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an exposure apparatus having a structure which is supported by a vibration isolating mechanism, and a partition wall which is inserted in at least part of the optical path of exposure light used in the exposure apparatus, the structure and partition wall are coupled by an elastic seal member to form a closed space, and the interior of the partition wall is partitioned from the remaining space.

5